Not in particular. I'm probably more likely to be hit by lightning or eaten by a shark.

Yes, I am very scared of being a victim. I am scared due to the shootings in Texas, Walmart, and all the young kids who have access to guns. That should never be happening.

Jesse Reyes

No. I'm a Vietnam combat veteran, and I will go against whoever the perpetrator is and help anybody I can.

After returning home from a years-long trip to Ireland, that was the hot topic: how to avoid these situations? [People are] shocked to hear that I am contemplating getting a concealed carry permit to be "the good guy with a gun." It's horrible to be in that situation, but that's where we are.

- Market exposure with no risk of principal loss when held to maturity
- Issued by Large National Banks
- FDIC Insurance Coverage up to the statutory limit

Market-linked CDs are typically longer-term investments. FDIC insurance is subject to FDIC limits. Principal invested in excess of FDIC limits is not insured and is subject to the credit risk of the issuer. Principal protection only applies if the CDs are held to maturity. If not held to maturity, a market-linked CD is subject to market risk, and trading in the secondary market may be thin or even nonexistent, and the price per CD may be less than par. Total payment at maturity may be less than what would be received if you had invested in the underlying asset(s) directly. Some market-linked CDs may limit participation in the underlying asset(s). Market Linked CD returns may vary from the indices' or assets' actual performance. Additional risks may apply based on the specific issue.
