

STREETALK

Will you continue to wear a mask after state drops the requirement?

Asked at Thursday Night Market

Andrew Lemanek

Dialysis tech

Even though I'm vaccinated, I will—indoors more so than outdoors. It's not for me, but if it makes anyone else around me feel better, that's what I'm going to continue wearing it for.

Amber Larson
Career advisor

Probably yes. I just know that only 50 percent of California is vaccinated, and even though I'm vaccinated, I just don't trust people, basically.

Amir Rezaii
I.T. security engineer

Yes, absolutely. [For] protection of myself and my family—I have people [near me] with immune deficiencies. There's not any reason to take a chance on it.

Benson
Social justice worker

Absolutely. I've already thought about it. My friends have thought about it. We're wearing our masks. I'm vaccinated; I was [among] the first in line. Yeah, I'm wearing my mask.

KZFR and the CN&R is the perfect collaboration between two community-focused media outlets at a time when independent local journalism is more important than ever.

Stanky the Butt Says...

KEEP YOUR BUTT OUT OF THE GUTTER!

Please use ashtrays!

Gutters and Storm Drains Flow Directly to Creeks.

Cigarette butts can take over ten years to biodegrade.
They contain toxins that are harmful to wildlife and water quality.
