COTTONPARTY

Cottonparty has been serving downtown Chico for 36 years. Angela Youngblood is the third owner of the business and is excited to continue cottonparty's legacy of helping women feel great while wearing comfortable clothing.

Youngblood purchased cottonparty at the beginning of 2020, after working for the previous owner for more than five years. While surviving her first year as a business owner during a pandemic was a difficult task, she feels grateful to our wonderful community for their continued support.

"Working with women, I constantly hear all of the ways we internalize how the world looks at our bodies and all the ways we inherit negative self-image from our parents, peers, media, etc. I love helping women break down those negative internal narratives and find clothing that makes them feel great inside and out," says Youngblood.

Cottonparty carries women's clothing in sizes small through extra large (4-16), with an emphasis on natural fiber and clothing made in the U.S.A. It also has a wide variety of jewelry and accessories.
