EDITOR'S PICK

BROOKLYN CHARM

One of the most common band-bio clichés is the humble-brag that "Fill in the Blank Band is impossible to categorize." It's rarely true. Most bands can generally be summed up by mashing a two musical styles together. Charming Disaster is one of the rare bands that could be so bold if they chose. The Brooklyn-based group describes itself in many ways, starting with "dark goth-folk duo with songs about death, crime, myth, magic, science and the occult." Others have chimed in with things like, "Truly madly creepy" and "Mystery infused pop," and depending on the song, all of that works. Make up your own mind when the group plays Naked Lounge March 29 with locals Empty Gate and Henry Crook Bird.
