

Powering a cleaner future.

We're working to create a sustainable future today and for generations to come by powering our community with clean energy sources such as solar, wind, hydroelectric and biomass. SMUD's energy is about 50% carbon-free, and we're on track to be 100% net-zero-carbon by 2040, ahead of California's 2045 goal.

In July, our Board of Directors adopted a climate emergency declaration to work toward an ambitious goal of achieving carbon neutral electricity by 2030.
